

What you can do

- ✓ Medical professionals should make a point of raising ethical purchasing of healthcare goods with colleagues and industry peers;
- ✓ Healthcare organisations should establish an ethical sourcing policy, preferably with support from the board of directors;
- ✓ Medical associations should approach suppliers and manufacturers to enquire about their operations and supply chain labour policies and practices;
- ✓ The award and renewal of contracts should depend on demonstrated efforts to ensure equitable labour conditions in supply chains.

