

Nursing and Midwifery in the Tropics: Expanding your Horizons

Inaugural Symposium

The Cairns and Hinterland Hospital and Health Service Nursing and Midwifery Education and Research Unit invites you to participate in the “Nursing and Midwifery in the Tropics” inaugural symposium.

Thursday and Friday, May 11 and 12, 2017

The theme for the symposium is exploring the challenges in clinical practice when caring for clients in tropical regions of Australia and beyond.

The symposium will be held over two days and celebrates International Nurses Day on Friday, May 12, 2017.

The symposium will have both plenary and concurrent sessions and the topics covered will be focused around the following streams:

- ❖ Tropical Diseases
- ❖ Chronic Diseases
- ❖ Mental and Sexual Health
- ❖ Paediatrics and Midwifery
- ❖ Rural and Remote
- ❖ Law and Ethics
- ❖ Education and Research
